CROWE AND CAVALCASELLE'S NEW HISTORY OF PAINTING IN ITALY.

A Reprint of the Original Text Verbatim. Edited and Supplemented with Notes by EDWARD HUTTON. At least 350 Reproductions of Pictures. To be completed in 3 vols. Vols. I. and II. now ready. The Second Volume deals with the Siennese School, and the first part of the Florentine School, and will be followed in the Autumn by Vol. III., completing the work. Demy 8vo, £3 net per set.

"With its scholarly notes and numerous illustrations the second volume of Messrs. Dent's edition of Crowe and Cavalcaselle's 'History of Painting in Italy' well maintains the high level of excellence of its predecessor. The task of bringing it into line with recent research by means of brief footnotes must have been one to daunt the most intrepid spirit, but that it has been triumphantly achieved by Mr. Hutton no one who carefully examines his annotations will deny."—Westminster Gazette.

SIX-SHILLING NOVELS

THE WAY THINGS HAPPEN

By HUGH DE SELINCOURT.

"The book has moments of grace and charm that few contemporary writers give us. Mr. de Selincourt has a great feeling for beauty, not only in externals, but also in character."

—Morning Post.

"It stands out conspicuously in its sincerity, power, and literary qualities from amongst the hopeless procession of the season's novels."—Clarion.

THE EAGLE'S NEST

By ALLAN MCAULAY.

"A brilliant tour de force. The character of the young Bonaparte is deftly kept in tone with that of the Napoleon who was to be evolved from him. The love interest also is excellent and pathetic."—Athenaeum.

THE HOLY MOUNTAIN

By STEPHEN REYNOLDS.

"An extremely clever, spirited, and unfailingly entertaining work. . . . He is a writer to be reckoned with, vehement, thoughtful, quick in his perceptions, fertile in ideas."

—Daily News.

THE ODD MAN:

An Odd and Budgetary Novel

By ARNOLD HOLCOMBE.

THE EARNED INCREMENT—What of that? The hero of this story owns an excellent site in a village which is on the upward grade. This piece of good fortune brings him a swarm of would-be buyers, landlords, builders, railway companies, who resent his freehold rights. The efforts to oust him create highly diverting comedy, and poetic justice is satisfied when we leave him more firmly established than ever in the home that is his.

"Mr. Holcombe is a new humorist. . . . The author writes so easily, so cheerfully, merrily, and even kindly. . . . This is a good book; it gives much pleasure."—Morning Leader.

Autumn Announcements, 1909.

A NOTABLE LIST.

TRAVELS IN THE UPPER EGYPTIAN DESERTS.

By ARTHUR E. P. WEIGALL, Chief Inspector of the Department of Antiquities, Upper Egypt. With numerous Illustrations. 7s. 6d. net. [Ready.

Five thousand years ago the Upper Egyptian Deserts were the scene of great activities. Mr. Weigall describes, in a manner far from official, the secrets he has unearthed from the sands, and the history of the Greek, Roman, and Byzantine antiquities, of which there is still plentiful and intimate evidence. Here and there may be found blocks of stone numbered and addressed to this or that Roman Emperor. He discusses also the vexed question of the site of Ophir and King Solomon's Mines. A most interesting book.

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF AKHNATON, Pharaoh of Egypt.

By ARTHUR E. P. WEIGALL. 10s. 6d. net. Akhnaton was the founder of "the New Theology" in Egypt, and the story of his life should therefore be of especial interest at the present day.

SIR WALTER SCOTT'S FRIENDS.

By FLORENCE MACCUNN, Author of "Mary Stuart." With Portraits. 10s. net.

A book of the greatest interest to all lovers of the Great Magician. It contains chapters on Old Ladies of Sir Walter's Youth—Parliament House Friends—Makers of the Minstrelsy—Bucclench Group—Literary Ladies—Abbotsford House—Scott's Relation to other Poets. [October 12th.

LADY WAKE'S REMINISCENCES.

Edited by LUCY WAKE. Illustrated with Portrait. 12s. 6d. net.

Like Archbishop Taft and her other brother, Sheriff Taft, Lady Wake possessed force of character and intellectual ability, and to the end of her long life she preserved her great interest in the world around her. Of her young days she retained the liveliest recollection, and in her "Reminiscences" she gives a very graphic and amusing and often touching account of life in Scotland in the beginning of the nineteenth century. During the Revolution of 1830 she was close to Paris, and her recollections of these days are particularly vivid. [October 12th.

THE PASSING OF THE SHEREFFIAN EMPIRE.

By E. ASHMEAD-BARTLETT, Author of "The Siege and Capitulation of Port Arthur," &c. Illustrated. 10s. 6d. net.

Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett knows Morocco well, having been special correspondent in that country in 1907 and 1908, when he had interviews with both Abdul Aziz and Moulay el Hand. Readers of his other books will know with what vividness and interest Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett can write of those events with which he has become familiar.

THE LETTERS OF JOHN STUART BLACKIE TO HIS WIFE. With a Few Earlier Ones to his Parents.

Selected and Edited by his Nephew, A. STODART WALKER. 12s. 6d. net.

This year is the centenary of the birth of one of the most picturesque personalities that Scotland has produced, and in these Letters may be found the secret of Professor Blackie's amiable characteristics, the story of his love for all things Celtic, and his fellowship with the greatest scholars and notable men of his day. Among these last were HUXLEY, TYNDALL, CARLYLE, RUSKIN, BROWNING, TENNYSON, BISMARCK, MANNING, NEWMAN, IRVING, and GLADSTONE.

THE WORK AND PLAY OF A GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR.

By HERBERT PRESTON-THOMAS, C.B. With a Preface by the Right Hon. JOHN BURNS, M.P. 10s. 6d. net.

It may safely be said that no one has a better opportunity for a wide observation of life than a Government Inspector. Mr. Preston-Thomas, late Local Government Board Inspector for the South-Western District, has collected in a book many varied experiences and humorous situations, which he has lit up by wise counsel and a good understanding.

A HISTORY OF MEDIEVAL POLITICAL THEORY IN THE WEST.

THE GLORY OF THE CONQUERED

THE STORY OF A GREAT LOVE.

By SUSAN GLASPELL. 6/-

"A remarkable book. . . . In this great love there is nothing sentimental. It is essentially human, but clean and fresh and vital. Miss Glaspell has a pleasant sense of humour, which is of great advantage to her work. Her men and women are no mere personified emotions, but finely modelled figures, in proportion to one another and their surroundings."—Westminster Gazette.

REVELL'S LATEST LIST.A HISTORY OF CHRISTIANITY IN JAPAN.

By OTIS CARY. In 2 vols. Price 15s. net; postage 1d.
Vol. I. A History of Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox Missions in Japan.

Vol. II. A History of Protestant Missions in Japan.
Dr. Cary's thoroughness and his intimate knowledge of the facts are derived from more than 30 years' residence in Japan. There is not a book on the subject that can begin to compare with it in English, and, as for French and German works, the only ones that approach it are descriptive of Roman Missions only. It should be in all libraries that contain standard works along such lines.

FROM Messrs. GREENING'S LIST

Three Remarkable Stories.

1. THE WITCH QUEEN OF KHEM

A Story of Egypt.

By ENA FITZGERALD.

Miss Fitzgerald is well known as the author of PATCOLA, which caused considerable praise as being the first work of a young girl.

2. HER SUBURBAN HIGHNESS

By GURNER GILLMAN.

Mr. Gurner Gillman has written one or two successful stories dealing with suburban life, in a fresh, original style, and his new book will be found to be as interesting as its forerunners.

3. THE SERPENT AND THE CROSS

By STEPHEN ANDREW.

The above is a powerful story by a new writer of the eternal conflict between Christianity and Materialism, and will cause much discussion in religious circles.

SIX SHILLINGS EACH.
AT ALL LIBRARIES.

Four Further Novels—still in demand.

THE MARQUIS CATILINI.

By ROWLAND STRONG.

Daily Telegraph says: This is a very remarkable novel. Brilliantly written, intensely vivid, it is that extremely rare combination of a tale of action and a perfect picture of real life and real human beings.

The Daily Telegraph continues: "We do not remember anything similar quite so good in English fiction. Wit sparkles on every page, not forced or irrelevant, but bubbling up from the vitality of the characters. 'The Marquis Catilini' is something new in novels. If freshness and genuine observation count, it will have a real success."

THE MASTER SCHEMER.

By VERE CAMPBELL.

Morning Post says: "A genuinely interesting book, and written evidently with conscientious care and often with real inspiration."

Globe says: "Mrs. Campbell's story will hold her readers enthralled by its mysteriousness."

Guardian says: "Plots and intrigues abound in Mrs. Vere Campbell's exciting narrative."

SECOND EDITION.

THE HUMAN MOLE.

By COLLIN COLLINS.

The Spectator says: "An exciting melodrama in which the reader will forget the incredibility of the means by which 'The Human Mole' attains his ends for the sake of the lively adventures that are described."

Paid Mail Gazette says: "Quite a new idea. Distinctly engrossing, and most skilfully designed to pin the reader's interest to it for hours at a time. We warn any seaside sojourner who picks up this book that he will not enjoy the sea or the scenery until he has finished it."

THIRD EDITION.

THE WANTON.

By FRANCES FORBES-ROBERTSON.

Of which M.A.P., in the issue of July 17, in the "Book of the Week" notice, said:—

"To give the story more fully would spoil the reading of the book; complication follows complication, and the love of Orestes and Belts keeps growing in spite of separation and imprisonment. But, as I have said above, clever and well conceived as is the plot and its development, Miss Forbes-Robertson's clear, well-chosen English, her learned comprehension of the characters and period about which she writes, and the general excellence of the handling of her materials, make her book one which cannot be passed over by lovers of sound and promising work."
